MOORE STEPHENS

Alina Stratan is a senior accountant at Moore Stephens KSC. She has 7 years of professional experience in budget forecasting, financial reporting, and corporate tax planning. After working with multiple national firms and consultancies in R.Moldova, she realized that she wants to work with an international consultancy in order to have access to an international network of resources and projects and hence, she joined Moore Stephens KSC in 2017. She is responsible for maintaining compliance with accounting and tax regulatory requirements, improving internal controls, and reduce financial and business risk. Alina is very optimistic and is always trying to look on the bright side of things. She loves travelling and she tries to visit atleast one new place every year.

Q: Tell us about your experience with Moore Stephens KSC?

A: After working with Moore Stephens for almost a year now as a senior accountant, I must say that Moore Stephens provided a great platform for me to gain deeper insights into the accounting industry. I got to learn a lot of technical knowledge and gain valuable hands-on accounting experience through my engagements with a diverse background of clients. The family culture at Moore Stephens KSC still intrigues me. The seniors and mentors are always ready to help and willing to give their advice and guidance in order to overcome challenges. The best part of the professional experience at Moore Stephens is you get a chance to work with major clients at an early stage of your career, which is challenging but you feel a great sense of achievement after completing it and you get immense learning on these projects.

Q: Big important lessons you learnt at Moore Stephens KSC?

A: I gained deeper insights into accounting industry and it has helped me significantly with my career development. At Moore Stephens, I also had the opportunity to practice the art of being detailed and meticulous with the client's documents. Since I joined Moore Stephens KSC, I gained invaluable insight of the inner workings of a professional services firm. I will highly recommend professionals, especially from accounting and finance background to be part of Moore Stephens KSC if they get a chance to work with the team.
